

Issues with the latest version of Apple Configurator and BMDE on Mac

Apple has recently released a new version of Apple Configurator which has introduced issues with BMDE on Mac application not starting anymore.

These issues originate from the changes introduced by this latest version of Apple Configurator.

We are currently working on providing a fix version to mitigate the problem and for the time being it is not recommended to update the Apple Configurator as it will prevent using BMDE on Mac application.

This news post will be updated with more detailed information about the fix version once available.

For additional questions, please contact Blanco Technical Support.